

Freelance Coaches & Consultants for personnel and organizational development

Company Profile:

Algar Rother – Coaches & Consultants stand for innovative and customized solutions in change management, leadership and team development. We coach, advise, train and manage projects in corporations and medium-sized companies. People are at the heart of all we do.

Areas of activity:

- Conceiving and moderating seminars and workshops independently
- Support, structure and track change projects
- Business Coaching, Special Coachings
- Developing strategies
- Planning and leading projects at the interface of PD & OD

Qualifications:

If you...

- have a University Degree and professional experience
- have systemic basic training and/or education in different personality profiles and a variety of training methods
- are experienced in conducting trainings, workshops and change projects
- are skilled in MS Office (Word, Power Point, Excel)
- are highly effective, structured, highly service-oriented and able to deal well with customers
- ...and are a generally positive, team-oriented, versatile and creative person

Then we would like to meet you as soon as possible!

Framework data:

Location: you will primarily work at our customer's base (and sometimes outside of Germany) so you don't necessarily have to live near our headquarters in Karlsruhe. However, you should be willing to come to us (Karlsruhe-Durlach) for training and advisory days, as these offers are important both for your own development and also to ensure the cohesion of the team.
